

How to: Search the Federal Gazette for net short positions

How to find net short positions in the Federal Gazette:

1.) Click on the “Menu” at the top of the Federal Gazette home page and select “Capital market” in the column “Search”. To search for individual publications of net short positions, please select “Net short positions” in the dropdown menu “Capital market / All”. You may start your search instantly by clicking the “Search” button or you have at first the option to

- enter a search term,
- specify a certain period between publication dates and
- restrict your search by using the dropdown menu “More search options” and enter additional criteria viz.:
 - Company
 - Company location
 - ISIN
 - Party under duty to report
 - Location / city
 - Country
 - Type of announcement (net short positions and omission of reporting obligation)

After clicking on “Search” you will be shown an overview table of publications, under the headers of name, area, information and date of publication. Default sorting will be by decreasing date of publication. Use the arrows in the table header for alternative sorting by

- name,
- information (alphabetical, ascending or descending order) or
- date of publication (ascending or descending order).

The respective published information may be viewed via the link “Mitteilung von Netto-Leerverkaufspositionen” in the “information” column. The contents of the individual publications may be printed by using the printer symbol that is shown above and below the publication content.

2.) You may search publications by position holders in the special section “Net short positions” of the Federal Gazette.

To get there, please select the “Net short positions” link in the “Quick access” column of the “Menu” on the Federal Gazette home page.

Information on searching in the special section “Net short positions”

Publications displayed:

Currently reported net short positions are shown in an overview table. Only the current position as per the date of the position will be shown for every combination of Position holder/ISIN. If the current position is less than 0.5%, this position will only be shown on the day of its publication and until 24:00 of the next day.

How to search:

The following search options are available:

- 1.) Direct search via the input field. You may here enter the position holder, the name of an issuer or an ISIN and click on the “Search net short positions” button to display the results of your search.
- 2.) To search for certain publications of net short positions specifically, use the “More search options” dropdown menu to select advanced search options viz.:
 - Position holder
 - Issuer
 - ISIN
 - Position (percentage range)
 - Date on which the position was opened, modified or closed (period)

By marking the checkbox “Also find historicised data” you may also include historical data in your search should no current positions of a position holder / an ISIN be shown.

What will be shown in the history of a position:

Selecting the “History” link for a publication will show you all Federal Gazette publications on the specific position (in cases of amended publications, only as amended, not the original publication).

The first row contains the current position.

You may also download the full history of a position as a CSV file.

How to find the history of a position if a position holder / an ISIN has no current position:

Select “More search options”, then mark the “Also find historicised data” checkbox, enter a search term and start your search. All historical publications will then be included in your search results.
